WASHINGTON, May 2.—In the first overall tabulation of known American casualties in World War II, the Navy today listed 6,393 Bluejackets, Marines and Coast Guardsmen representing every state in the union as dead, missing or wounded as the result of "direct action with the enemy" in approximately four months of fighting on scattered fronts. Covering the period from the Japanese surprise attack upon Pearl Harbor Dec. 7 to April 15 of this year, the Navy reported classified the casualties as follows: dead, 2,991; missing, 2,495 and wounded, 907. Subsequent reports may boost these totals.

Result Of Direct Action

"The preponderant share of these casualties resulted from direct action with the enemy," the Navy said, "but included in the total are names of those who were lost in accidents at sea and in the air on duty directly connected with wartime operations. Men from the 48 states as well as

Another was shot down and a third

PITTSBURGH, May 2.—In the twisted, broken mass of steel and timber, federal and state authorities today sought the cause of the explosion in the torpedo room of the Central Railway Signal Company in Versailles Borough, near McKeesport, that sent eight women to their deaths and injured a dozen others, at least seven seriously.

FBI agents, who rushed to the scene immediately after first word of the blast reached Pittsburgh, reportedly were withdrawn from the investigation since the company was not engaged in war work. The plant manufactures railroad torpedoes, flares and other signal devices.

Cause Unknown

Plant officials and other authorities were unable to advance any reason for the explosion. Among those ordered to investigate, however, were William T. Cameron, Chief Safety Engineer of the Federal department of labor; Edmond
P. Thomas and D. S. Kingery, explosives experts connected with the U. S. bureau of mines.

The victims of the blast were badly burned and mangled.

Dozens of the potash and sulphur torpedoes manufactured in the plant were said to have been embedded in the broken bodies taken to the morguese. Throngs of weeping relatives milled around in the morgue last night.

Great Britain's last hope of armed assistance from the millions who follow the leadership of Mohandas K. Gandhi was blasted today.

The working committee of the
All-India National Congress Party, the duly elected representatives of 700,000,000 Hindus voted 176 to 4 to resist Japanese invasion only by what it termed "non-violent non-aggression."

In other words, those who are guided by the party's precepts will offer only passive resistance to the invaders if they come, refusing to do their bidding, but at the same time declining to lend any active aid to military or civilian officials who will seek to spare India slavery

High Average In War Bond Pledges Here

Arthur Heizman, Vice Chairman of the War Bond Campaign Committee in Lawrence County has reported that, on the basis of preliminary examination of Victory pledges received to date, Lawrence County people are pledging at the rate of approximately $143 per year per pledge signed.

This is an exceptionally high average, although it cannot be multiplied by the total population, due to the fact that in many cases pledges were received from only one or two members of the family.

Pledges are still being solicited in some localities which could not previously be covered, and indications are that fairly complete coverage will soon be assured.

Everywhere the response has been excellent, as indicated by the high yearly average secured. The War Bond Drive is receiving considerable impetus from various sources, particularly in some of the industrial plants where the per cent of employees participating has increased rapidly in the past few weeks.

It is expected that many new industrial plants will soon be flying the Manufoman flag, signifying close to 100 per cent participation by employees in the pay-roll savings plan.

More German Control Over Italy Is Seen

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 2.—The recent conference at Salzburg between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini will result in greater German control over Italy, informed circles in London said today.

In pointing out that Mussolini is playing an increasingly subservient role in the Axis set-up, observers said a Rome Radio announcement shortly after the Salzburg meeting, held last Wednesday and Thursday, which disclosed that "another large batch of German police arrived in Rome Friday."

It was pointed out that the Council of Ministers immediately upon his return to hear what the British press called "Hitler's instructions."

Further Nazi Control

Evidence of further German control in Italy was seen in the announcement of Virginia Gayda, fascist editor, that thousands more of German troops would move into Italy while part of the Italian army will be sent to the Russian front.

Rationing Cards For Sugar To Be Issued Next Week

Sugar rationing cards for every adult and infant in the county will be issued Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week when the local Commodity Rationing Board hands out the pasteboards that will get sugar in the next few months.

Rationing will be handled by the teachers of the city and county schools. In the city the issuance of cards will start at 1 o'clock each day and continue until nine. In the county the issuance will start at 4 o'clock each day and continue until 9.

The sugar ration cards are expected to be issued to everybody, regardless of age. Without the cards no person will be able to get sugar, with them they will be enabled to get the allotted amount per person.
In order to expedite the issuance of ration cards, it is asked that consumers whose names start with A-B-C-D register on Monday. Persons whose names begin with E-F-G-H-I-J-K on Tuesday, L-M-O-P-Q on Wednesday and R-S-T-U-V-W-X-
Y-Z on Thursday.

The issuance of the cards should not take long. However, persons signing for their entire household should remember that they must be prepared to answer questions concerning each one of the family. It is not necessary for each member of a family to appear to register, the head of the house can do so for them.

See 40,000 More Being Added To Public Payroll

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Government officials predicted today that the federal payroll will jump more than $50,000,000 a year as the result of creation of large field staffs to administer the vast price control, rent and rationing programs.

Those who made the estimate said it was conservative. They forecast that more than 40,000 persons will be hired soon, between 20,000 and 30,000 of them for the price control and rationing programs. Between 85 and 95 per cent of new employees, according to informed spokesmen at the U. S. civil service commission, will be scattered in regional, state, district and local offices throughout the country.

The $50,000,000, it was declared, represented only payrolls alone and does not include funds which must be spent for office rents, equipment and other supplies. Federal Price Administration Leo Henderson was expected to have the biggest staff because of the gigantic price, rationing and rent program facing him.

DeGaulle's Plan Being Opposed By U. S.-Britain

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 2.—The United States and Great Britain today are striving to dissuade Gen.
Charles De Gaulle, leader of the Free French movement, from attempting to establish himself as the future political leader of France.

A highly authoritative source in Washington disclosed that an effort by Gen. De Gaulle to convert his movement into a political organization with himself as its head has split the Free French wide open.
Both the United States and Great Britain have let De Gaulle know that they are unwilling to grant him diplomatic recognition as the head of any political regime, and the American government has intimated that it may suspend its aid to his movement if he persists with the plan.

The United States wants Gen. De Gaulle to remain as the military leader of the Free French movements, but it wants him to confine his activities to military resistance against the Axis.

Halt Spread Of Rhode Island Blaze

Heavy Damage By Forest Fire

Fifty Square Miles Burned Over—Twenty Houses Are Destroyed

ESTIMATE LOSS AT NEAR $2,000,000

(International News Service)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 2.—Three Rhode Island towns were under martial law today while thousands of men stood guard over the woodlands in the southwestern section of the state to combat further spread of a $2,000,000 forest fire which roared through 50 square miles and destroyed at least 20 houses before being brought under control.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and state officials indicated the possibility that the fires were started by saboteurs. The FBI was called into action because 250,000 feet of government stored lumber was destroyed.

Patrol Highways
More than 200 soldiers from Fort Devens, Mass., sailors from Rhode Island naval stations, blue-garbed members of the state guard with loaded rifles patrolled the highways while a fire fighting force of 3,000 worked frantically to halt the flames.

Gov. J. Howard McGrath declared the towns of Coventry, West Greenwich and Scituate under martial law after the flames, which began yesterday morning, endangered those communities.

James R. Simmons, district supervisor of the department of agriculture forest service, who hinted at the possibility of sabotage, said: "It seems strange to me that fifteen fires should suddenly spring up where the United States government has so much lumber stored."

He said at least 250,000 feet of the 2,500,000 feet of lumber stored in an undisclosed area was destroyed.

AXIS DESTROYER OFF NORWAY HIT BY R. A. F. BOMB

the blasted ship and another destroyer was seen racing to its assistance.

Royal Air Force planes bombed airports in occupied northern France. One plane failed to return from the operations.

Weather Interferes
Although earlier in the evening Friday the sky over the English Channel was described as "literally alive" with R. A. F. craft which shuttled back and forth to pound the Nazi-held French and Belgian coasts, the air ministry said weather later in the night was not suitable for large-scale activity.

One Briton said the evening raiders "seemed to be everywhere and to be coming from everywhere."

Hundreds Of Planes
Hundreds of planes, some in formation and others scattered in various points in the sky, were in the air simultaneously. While one group headed eastward toward the continent they passed others returning from raids. The powerful engines of the aircraft sent down a terrific roar.

Mingled with the sound of the motors were the blasts of heavy explosions from the occupied coast across the channel.

Warnings Given
Meanwhile the mysterious radio of "Col. V. Britton" in a broadcast beamed to the continent promised that the mighty R. A. F. "attacks will continue to be made against Germany itself and heavy attacks also will be made on factories working for the Nazis in occupied countries."

He added that the "raids will get heavier and heavier."

Gov. Arthur H. James today asked the public to observe Maritime Day on May 22, a day normally dedicated to the Merchant Marine officers and men who lost their lives in the World War. night, identifying as best as possible, their kin.

The explosion let go with a terrific roar shortly before three o'clock yesterday afternoon. The iron roof on the torpedo room was sent flying high up into the air. Fire followed the explosion, but was extinguished quickly.

Twenty Girls At Work
At the time, 20 girls were working in the section. Screaming and crying they fought their way to the outside to receive treatment for blackened and burned faces and hands.

A railroad worker who was one of the first at the scene said he saw the girls stumbling out of the building. At first, he said, he thought they were Negroes, "but as they passed us, we saw they were just burned black."

Loss in dollars and cents was estimated at $25,000.

Open boxes of the potash sulphur mixture, in a section of the plant next to the torpedo room, were not exploded by the blast, and fire company officials explained that the mixture can be exploded only by detonation. Flames merely burn it with brilliant intensity.

Five minutes before the blast ripped through the building, William Knight said he walked through the torpedo room, and had noted nothing unusual in the routine. He said he stopped to talk to the plant superintendent, Fred W. Slaney, at the door of the office building and was standing there when the catastrophe occurred. One of the first bodies dragged from the wreckage was that of Slaney's daughter, Elizabeth.

The dead were: Bertha Kossuth, 36, of Versailles; Anna Rosak, 30, Versailles; Helen Rosa, 32, Versailles; Helen Bodnar, 23, Versailles; Elizabeth Slaney, 23, McKeesport; Susan Kossuth, Versailles; Jennie Sudaric, 35, McKeesport, and Elizabeth Haberjak, 21, McKeesport.

U. S. NAVY LISTS 6,393 CASUALTIES TO DATE IN WAR

Alaska, Panama, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and the Philippines made up the casualty list, a veritable Gargantuan of American youth who have been fighting heroically against the Axis powers on scattered fronts throughout the world.

No breakdown was offered by the Navy on the number of casualties in various war theaters, but the all-inclusive list embraces fighting against Axis submarine raiders in the Atlantic and against Japanese forces in Hawaii, Wake, Guam, the Philippines and the southwest Pacific.

Army Casualties Not Included
The total does not include United States Army casualties. To date the war department officially has announced the death of 283 officers and enlisted men. In addition, more than 35,000 American-Philippine troops were presumed captured in the fall of Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines.

Of those listed by the Navy as dead, the majority, about 2,000, were killed in the surprise Japanese attack upon Pearl Harbor.

Many of those listed as missing also are presumed to be dead, some in action during the furious battle of Java. For example, approximately 1,200 were believed to have been lost in the sinking in the southwest Pacific of the aircraft carrier Langley and the Naval tanker Pecos.

No accurate check of the crews on the two ships is possible immediately because a number of men from both vessels were rescued and others may have reached isolated lands in that area. First the Langley was sunk, and survivors were picked up by the Pecos, which subsequently was destroyed by the Japanese.

Some May Be Prisoners
"The classification 'missing' covers those who cannot be accounted for, some of whom may be prisoners, some of whom may have been rescued at sea and landed at isolated spots and have had no opportunity to communicate with United States Naval authorities," the Navy explained.

Included in the list of missing are more than 400 Marines who held out so valiantly on Wake Island for two weeks early in the war but finally were overwhelmed by Japanese forces and are presumed to be dead or prisoners of war.

Still fighting on Corregidor with Lieut. Ensign Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces are nearly 3,500 Bluejackets and Marines who were transferred from Bataan to the island fort just before the peninsula fell to the Japanese April 8.

Stories Of Heroism
Behind these cold statistics are stories of heroism virtually without parallel in American military history. In every Naval action since the outbreak of war United States forces in the Pacific have been greatly outnumbered, both in manpower and warships.

One of the best examples of the way American Bluejackets are fighting in the present conflict was offered recently in the disclosure of the sinking of the destroyer Perry by Japanese bombers at Port Darwin, Australia.

"Observers who witnessed the last engagement of the Perry described the conduct of her crew beyond all praise," the Navy said. "Gun crews remained at their battle stations until ordered to fire until they were forced by rising water to leave their stations. No officer or man left the ship until it sank under her. A number of survivors were later rescued."

This is just one of many similar stories of heroism behind the Navy's grim casualty list. Many of them already have been told, and others will be as the war progresses.

JAPANESE CLAIM MANDALAY TAKEN; NO CONFIRMATION

holding since Lashio, Burma road terminus to the northeast, already had fallen.

Japs Move Northward

He confirmed that the Japanese forces which took Lashio had moved northward along the Burma road to Hsenwi, 50 miles below the Chinese border, but added that the small enemy spearhead is advancing at great risk and may be cut off if Chinese troops are in the area in force.

If the Chinese still are holding Taunggyi, southeast of Mandalay, in force they represent a serious threat to Japanese northern communications, the spokesman said.

He added that the Japs might feed off Burmese land but they never will get off because of the destruction carried out by Imperial forces when they retreated.

Rushes Chinese Troops

New Delhi, May 2.—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, countering a Japanese drive to drive northward along the Burma road and through China's "back door," was reported today to be rushing four columns of Chinese troops to meet the invaders who have reached to within 50 miles of China's border.

The Chinese reinforcements will attempt to smash the Japanese spearhead, which has driven into Hsenwi, on the Burma road 32 miles northeast of Lashio, southern terminus of the Burma road, and relieve other Chinese forces under command of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell at Lashio and Hsipaw, 35 miles southeast.

An official communique declared: "The situation on the Irrawaddy front is unchanged. There is fighting in and around Monywa, 50 miles west of Mandalay."

"All British troops are being withdrawn from positions north of the Irrawaddy. The road and railway bridges across the Myingye river have been blown up. Two spans of the famed Ava bridge have been demolished."

"Intensive and indiscriminate Japanese bombings of towns in central Burma have caused negligible military damage but severe civil losses."

The primary Japanese aim at the moment in their swift northward drive appears to be to force as deep a wedge as possible between the Chinese northern armies and the Chinese and British Imperial forces south and west of Mandalay.

Intense fighting was reported at Hsenwi between the defenders and the Japanese as Chinese reinforcements hurried southward along the Burma road.

German Ministry Of Justice Faces Purge Says Report

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, May 2.—Personnel of the German Ministry of Justice and staff members of local offices of various courts throughout Germany soon will be purged by Adolf Hitler's chief deputy, Martin Bormann, the Moscow radio said today in quoting a report from Zurich.

It was said that as a result of Hitler's speech to the Reichstag, in which he criticized conduct of German judges, a number of high officials of the Justice Ministry had resigned without waiting for the purge to begin. Several supreme court officials also were said to have tendered their resignations.

papers in Stockholm generally agreed that the main results of the Salzburg meeting will be an increased contribution of Italian troops to the Russian front and slackening of Italian propaganda critical to France. It was said that Hitler had demanded a damper be placed on Italian claims against the French in order to facilitate Franco-German collaboration.

The newspaper Social Demokraten said that "the Italians will follow Germany in all things, including industry."

committee adopted a resolution asserting that no compromise was possible and added: "Britain must abandon its hold on India."

While United Nations and Japanese war planes exchanged blows in the southwest Pacific and a comparative lull halted the sweeping offensive of the Royal Air Force, Britain was thus confronted with a new and major problem.

While lack of congress party cooperation was anticipated ever since Sir Stafford Cripps returned to London from India, his mission a failure, hopes of a compromise had long been held.

What action Britain now can or will take was problematical, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States and for seven years viceroy of India, said recently that in the event Gandhi's policies won out, Britain will do her duty in defense of India. Unless measures are attempted to enforce Hindu cooperation, this means that Britain must depend upon the Indian army of a little more than a million men to protect the teeming sub-continent from invasion.

SEVENTEEN DIE IN PLANE CRASH NEAR SALT LAKE

man. But the man died a second before Gearhart reached him.

Among Victims

Among the 14 passengers killed were Lieutenant Commander J. G. Burrows, U. S. N., who was en route to Washington, D. C., and M. L. Patterson and F. B. Vose, connected with the Sperry Gyroscope Company which manufactures secret navigation devices for the United Nations' aviation branches.

Besides Lieut. Commander Burrows, the other officers killed were Lieut. Herman J. Frankenburg, U. S. Army, and Lieut. C. S. Tucker, U. S. N.

Three women were among the victims, including two women passengers, the infant son of one of the women, and the plane's stewardess.

The crash was the first major domestic airlines disaster since fifteen army officers, Film Star Carole Lombard, her mother and her publicity agent and three crew members were killed near Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 16.

Open Investigation

Local officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board opened an immediate investigation. Four other crack investigators were ordered to the scene upon orders from CAA headquarters in Washington.

Salt Lake City airport attendants heard the plane overhead and were preparing for its landing when suddenly they heard a terrific crash, audible for ten miles around. Then, the plane's gasoline tanks exploded, creating a gigantic flash.

"Trip No. 4 has crashed!" said an observer in the airport's control tower.

Salt Lake City police were immediately notified and they set out for the flaming wreckage, leading a speeding caravan composed of crash crews and every available ambulance in the city.

A spring rain made the roads a muddy mess. Many of the rescuers, including this reporter who had joined the caravan racing up Englewood Peak—scene of the crash—were bogged down in the mud.

A United Airlines spokesman reported that flying conditions were favorable and that visibility had been nine miles at the time of the crash.

May Have Been Motor Failure

Other officials for the airlines announced: "United Airlines had completed seventeen months of safe operation prior to last night's accident. During that period, when United was awarded the 1941 safety certificate by the National Safety Council, the company's planes flew a total of 499,000,000 revenue passenger miles without a fatality."

Airport officials believed that motor failure probably was the cause of the accident.

They based their belief on a report from the proprietor of a roadside inn on U. S. Highway 91. The innkeeper telephoned the airport and said:

"I just saw a plane flying very low over my Inn—I've just heard a crash—"

Every available hand at the airport then rushed to the roof-top and saw the flames on Englewood Peak.

The airport officials theorized, on the basis of the known weather conditions and the innkeeper's report, that the pilot saw the ground, but was unable to avoid crashing into it because of motor trouble.

The crash took place as the plane was coming into the Salt Lake City airport for a landing. It was to have landed at Denver, en route east, after stopping briefly at the Utah capital.

Authoritative London quarters had no confirmation of the reports.

MOSCOW, May 2.—Thirty French officers suspected of aiding French General Henri Honoré Giraud in his recent escape from a German prison camp have been shot at Breslau, the Moscow radio said today in quoting reports from Stockholm.

Gen. Giraud escaped to Switzerland and was reported to have made his way to unoccupied France. The Germans have announced that a reward of 100,000 marks would be paid for apprehension of the General who led the French Ninth Army at the outbreak of war with Germany.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN PARENTS AGREE ON TRAINING

At a meeting with parents recently, a mother asked me if I had a special bulletin on the upbringing of the child. I didn't have one, but I told her I would write a column on the subject.

I can think of no more serious tragedy for the child at any age than to have his parents disagree over him in his presence. This type of disagreement is very prevalent, at all levels of education and income.

Never shall I forget the lovely little fourth-grade girl who stopped as she was leaving the assembly hall where I had carried on a discussion with the children on getting along happily at home, to say, "Mother, will you tell me what to do when my mother tells me to do something and my father tells me not to do it?"

Child's Welfare First

I advised her to discuss it with her father and mother, to tell them, at a time when they seem to be in accord, that she loves them both very much and wishes to obey both, but cannot do so if they countermand each other's orders. She might ask them to get together while she is not in the room and work out what both wish her to do. Matters over which parents often disagree before the child are his discipline and privileges, the amount of money for his clothes or spending; whether to take the baby when he cries, whether ever to spank the tot, when he should first be allowed to go out alone, and so on.

Wise parents who think first of the welfare and happiness of their growing child, talk these matters over long before they arise and plan together exactly what they will do. As a new or unexpected problem arises, the parent confronted with it reserves judgment until after both parents will have talked over the matter together away from the child.

Ever so many mothers write me of the husband who beats their child or forever nags at him, rarely giving him a kind word or cultivating any companionship with him. Some say, "I just have to take the child's part."

But they should know that when they do they only cause the father to be more severe and worse in every other way. Most such mothers would be so much wiser to keep silent then. To these mothers, I say: Wait for a quiet time when you and your husband feel kindly toward each other. Then in your most endearing way to win him to want to be more considerate of the child. Avoid criticizing him, but for every show of improvement in him compliment him tenderly and sincerely. Celebrate successes in him.

Solving Parent Problems

Q "Our baby 10 months old is beginning to move about. We are not sure whether the better course would be to remove small articles from his reach, or to teach him that such things are not to be handled. Please send me a list of pamphlets and books which will help us guide our child without much punishment and with more insight and understanding. I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope."

A The lists were sent. It is better to remove some of the small unnecessary things, leaving just a few he must learn never to handle. Give him immediate pain always when he does. Also have many other things there which he can handle with approval and enjoyment.

MYSTERIOUS MACHINES

My granddaddy had a way with things. On easy terms, with gears and cogs and wheels and bolts, was he. But such delight was kept from me. My granddaddy was a pleasant smile. At work with hammer, saw or file. But I, when anything breaks down. Perplexed and troubled scowl and frown.

My granddaddy's hands were touched with skill. Could handle plane and wrench and drill. A certain deftness they possessed. But mine are fumbler's at the best.

Oh, had my granddaddy lived to see This age of great machinery. These metal marvels, great and small. He would have understood them all.

But when I walk through mill and shop. See wheels go round and plummets drop. All secrets there are safe with me. I can't explain a thing I see. (Copyright, 1942, Edgar A. Guest)

Bible Thought For Today

There is nothing more conflagrant than a good example, unless it is a bad example. Some one certainly will imitate you. We should consider our influence on the weak: If I eat meat my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world stands.—I Corinthians 8:13.

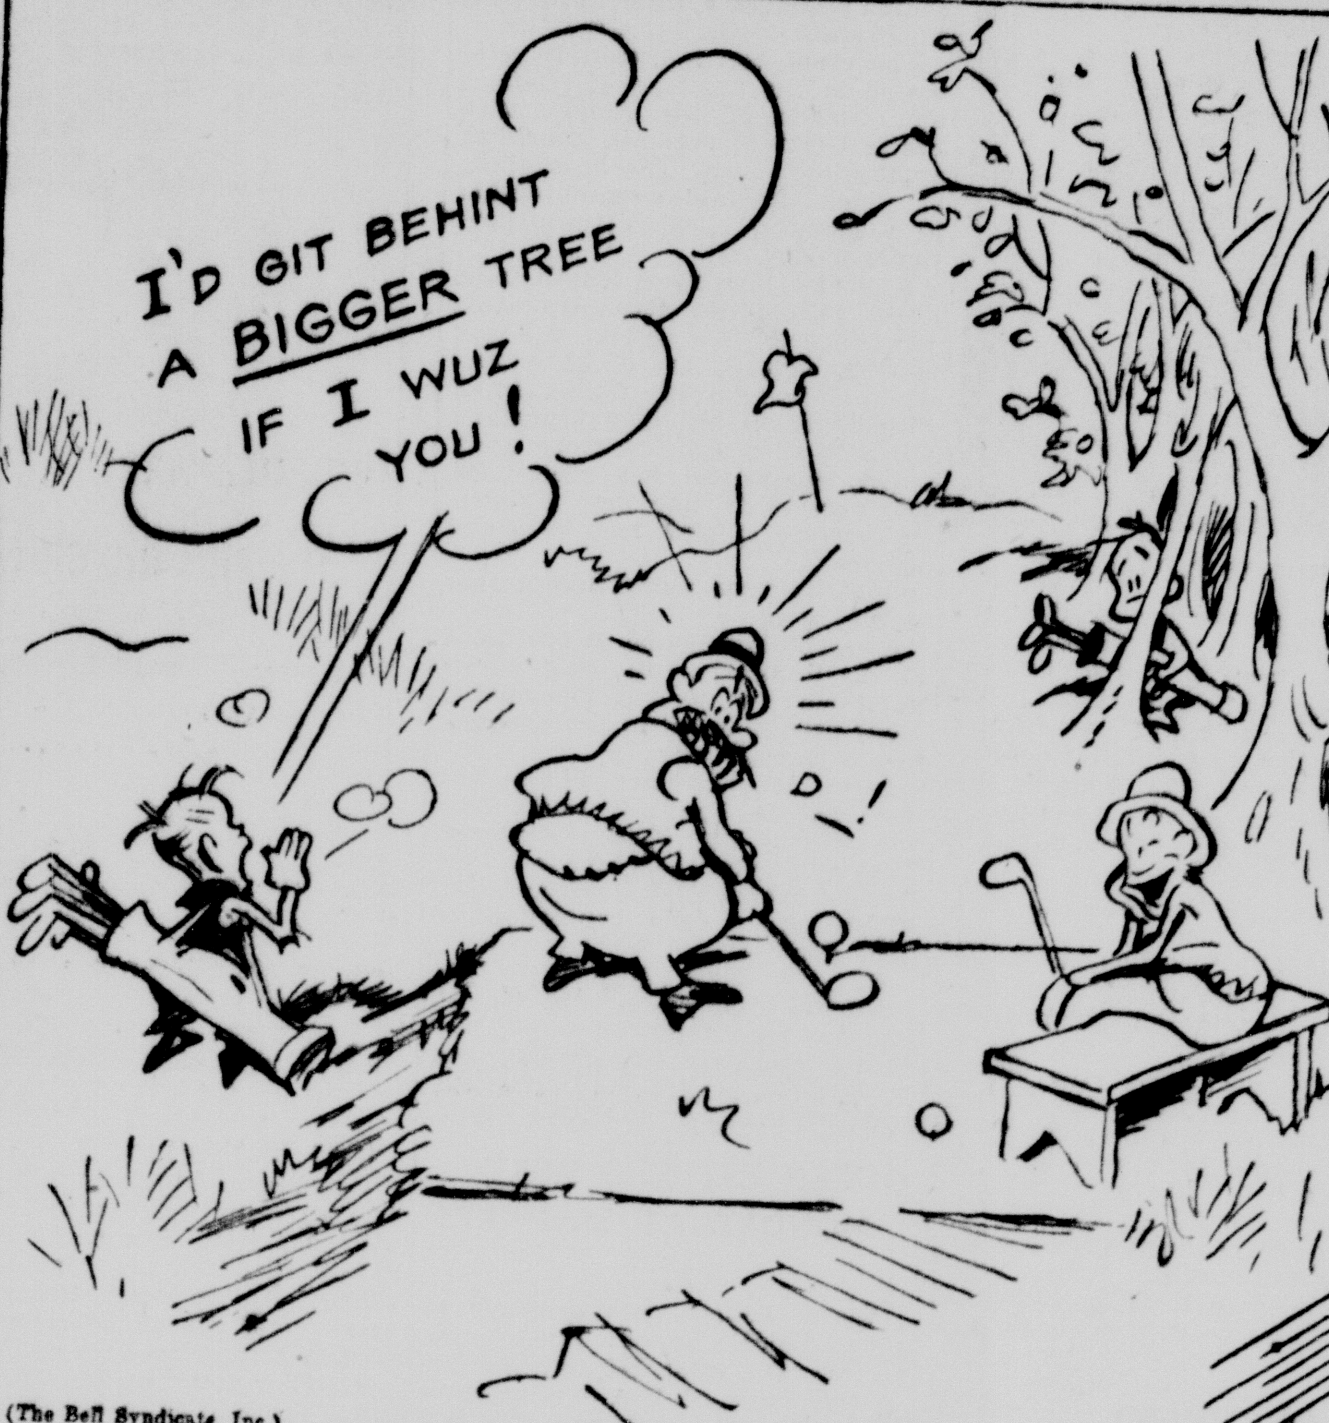

Words Of Wisdom

Strange but true. A wise man learns even from those who have no wisdom.

When a U-boat wrecked a ship and landed the survivors in South Ireland, two Civil Guards discussed the problem. "We ought to intern them."

"And why, I'm asking?"
"Why? Because we're neutral."
"Sure, we are. But who are we neutral against?"

"And, putting, paused to mutter; 'I wish, you brute, you'd turn to milk.'"

And the animal turned to butt her.

Good Taste

By E. B. POTTER OFFICE

It is claimed in Washington that 50,000 people in this country have incomes of over $25,000 a year. We thought there were more than that after seeing a lot of people strut.

Very few people say what they think. For instance when a person says, "I don't like that man," what he really means is "I don't know that man."

The way most men climb to success is: First they get mad enough to say "I'll show 'em," and then they stay mad until they do.

The height of indefiniteness is aptly illustrated by the wife who was telling her husband about a meeting she had attended. "Oh," she gushed, "Mr. Appel is certainly well read. He repeated an exquisite quotation last night."

"What was it?"
"I can't give you the exact words, but he said he'd rather be a something in a something than a something or other in a something else."

A New York detective agency that specializes in tracing missing persons has been employed by more than 70,000 wives to find their husbands, but so far only 15 husbands to find their wives.

See the employer hunting "older men?" He is the one who said a few years ago that men were no good after forty.

Yet our armed forces will not suffer as many casualties in any one year as we suffered last year on our highways.

No use naming the war now, Mr. President. The only name that sticks to a kid is the nickname that just happens.

What's What At A Glance

Workers Will Not Have Much To Say Soon
Will Be Parceled Out On Priority Basis
Must Go Where Ordered Just Like Soldiers

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Labor's to be parceled out on a priority basis, beginning very soon. As chairman of the recently created war manpower commission, Paul V. McNutt will manage the job.

The workers won't have much to say about their various assignments. They will go wherever Paul tells 'em to go.

Rather peculiarly a good many of them want to get into the military service but aren't permitted to join up because the manpower board needs 'em worse for industrial production. They're conscripted all right, but it's conscription for factory tasks and away from the army. The latter is the outfit that's preferred to be mustered into, at a lot more personal risk and a great deal less pay.

Plants, it appears, are numerous enough and are adequately equipped to deliver emergency supplies in a decidedly swifter rate than they're doing it now, but their managements can't get the skilled hands required to operate 'em at their maximum capacities.

Employment of women is expected to relieve the situation very much presently, but recruiting and organizing 'em takes a lot of time and it will take still more to train most of them at technical crafts, and time's at a fierce premium today. Hence evolution of the idea to adapt priorities to the allocation of labor as well as commodities.

Transportation Is Tough
Transportation facilities are another headache to emergency officialdom. It's pretty aggravating to have wartime products finished and ready for utilization, but piled up at shipping points for lack of means to move 'em to other places where they're in urgent demand.

Building's a dickens of a problem, too.

All our emergency industries have to have roofs over 'em, at least.

Our cities, where it's convenient to provide 'em, are entirely unprepared to accommodate 'em.

They're generally congested already.

There has been a certain amount of commandeering of their office skyscrapers and apartment houses.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ANOTHER QUISLING
France now has its Quisling—Pierre Laval.

All that has ever been told to the world about Laval's career has been nasty. It has been a record of cynical and unscrupulous opportunism. The opportunity presented to him now by Hitler is to share in the spoil of France, just as Hitler and his crowd are sharing in the spoil of all that Europe that Germany has over-run.

To date there have been men like Laval in all lands and Hitler has been shrewd enough to seek them and make use of them for his own purposes.

Laval, however, will not suppress the love of liberty among the decent people of France who have known what freedom is. Unfortunately, many of the French people have been so socialistic in their ideas of freedom that they have been an easy prey for the Labor racketeers of France. It was in France that the sit-down strike was inaugurated and French workmen, being badly led, have been entirely too indifferent to the efforts made by the thinking Frenchmen by way of preparedness against Germany. As a matter of fact, the French Revolution put entirely too many wrong ideas into the minds of Frenchmen. A great many fine Frenchmen, very able men, lost their lives at the close of the Eighteenth Century and France has never fully recovered from the idea embraced by the Revolutionists—that every rich man was a bad citizen, but it has not prevented the rise to power of such men as Laval.

Laval, despite his wealth as much as position and his belief, is going to get it under the Hitler regime. Perhaps he will, but the French people are awakened. The protest parades and the daring acts of sabotage against the German Army of Occupation which greeted the anti-Laval movement, evidence the spirit of France lives, on the captive France, still unbroken by defeat, undaunted by the Nazi terror, scornful of the pro-Nazi puppet leader who only rules France by reason of German might.

WASHINGTON — Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury asks a fair trial of President Roosevelt's anti-inflation proposals: "We must give the President's program a fair chance—the ship must not be torpedoed before it is launched."

WASHINGTON — Francis Biddle, Attorney General hails tightening of the foreign agents registration law: "The enactment of this statute will enable the American public better to evaluate some of the defeatist propaganda it sees in print or hears over the air by disclosing the foreign principles for whom the work is being done."

HAPPYGRAMS
By ERICH BRANDEIS
Man is so sure of himself, so wondrous wise. And yet, no man could possibly create any single one of the miracles of Spring.

He has invented all sorts of machinery, built skyscrapers, written books and discovered continents.

Yet no man has been able to create the tiniest violet or make the most modest wildflower bloom.

With all his science, all his education, all his brainpower, no man has ever yet produced one little bud, given life or song to a bird, or been able to explain why trees are green, roses red and cherry blossoms pink.

Amid the roar of cannon and the crash of bombs, amid death and destruction, Spring goes on and will go on.

If man has lost his faith, let him go out and look at Spring. He'll find it a promise fulfilled, a prayer of thanks, a pledge of peace and resurrection.

What's a standard wage?
You might as well start thinking about it because under the controls program wages are left to the War Labor Board to adjust.

And the heat is on for elimination of "sub-standard."

Size And Weight Of Soldiers' Mail Is Now Restricted

Packages Going Outside Country Cannot Weigh Over Eleven Pounds

Postmaster William R. Hanna has been notified by the Post Office Department that, effective immediately, the size and weight of all packages addressed to soldiers outside the Continental United States will be restricted to 11 pounds in weight, and 18 inches in length, or 42 inches in length and girth combined.

This has been found necessary in order to conserve space on ocean and air transportation facilities, and to prevent congestion at points of embarkation or debarkation.

It has been found that the mailing of large quantities of second, third and fourth-class mail matter has been interfering with movement of vital war supplies.

These restrictions are not in force to points in Canada or Mexico, but affect Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Porto Rico and to matter addressed to A. P. O., in care of the postmaster at New York, San Francisco and Seattle, for both the army and navy.

In addition, no one will be permitted to mail more than one parcel a week to the same person in the armed forces. Perishable matter is not acceptable, regardless of size or weight.

Russian Roulette Fatal To Youth

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 2 — Frank O'Neil, 20-year-old Fordham University sophomore, was dead today because of his bravado in playing "Russian Roulette."

The czarist gun-game, a plot often used in melodramatic movies, calls for the removal of all but one cartridge from a six-chambered revolver and the player risks his life on the chance of the firing pin hitting one of the five empty chambers.

O'Neil was in the bedroom of his Brooklyn home demonstrating the game to a friend, John Sheridan, 20, Queens.

"I read about it in a book," O'Neil said. "It's called the Russian roulette game. Here, I'll show you."

With that he pressed the muzzle of the revolver to his right temple and fired.

The five-to-one gamble on life was lost.

LARGE RUBBER STOCKPILE

(International News Service)
AKRON — The nation's greatest rubber stockpile is in the form of unused mileage in the 173,000,000 tires and tubes now in the possession of American motorists, John L. Collier, president of the B. F. Goodrich company, declared in a statement here urging motorists to cut down driving speeds and distances. The rubber content of these tires and tubes exceeds 1,200,000 long tons, he said, or nearly twice the nation's stockpile of new rubber.

Four-leaved clovers can be propagated. They will not come true from seed, as they are mutants or sports, but can be propagated by cuttings.

Buy $335,000 Worth Of War Bonds In Hawaii

(International News Service)

HONOLULU, May 2 — Officials estimated today that approximately $335,000 worth of war bonds and stamps were purchased in Hawaii yesterday as the islands celebrated their historic "Lei Day" in a unique manner.

In addition to wearing the traditional flower lei, every person on the islands was supposed to purchase a war bond or stamp.

The quota of $250,000 had been exceeded by noon and if the $335,000 figure is reached, it will represent a third of the entire May quota for the islands.

Gov. J. B. Poindexter led purchases by buying $10,000 worth of the bonds. Army and navy personnel also bought substantially.

Lend-Lease Aid For Iran-Iraq

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 2 — President Roosevelt today announced that the United States will provide Iran and Iraq with Lend-Lease aid in accordance with provisions of the Lend-Lease act of March 11, 1941.

In announcing the decision the President said that he has found the defense of Iran and Iraq to be vital to the defense of the United States.

Meanwhile, the war production board today issued an order designed to speed flow of war materials to Iceland and Turkey and the "Free Forces" of Czechoslovakia and Free France.

The WPB amended its priority regulation to designate the four nations as countries whose government orders are defined as "defense orders." With such a designation, they can obtain priority assistance in buying munitions in this country.

The board previously had extended such aid to Free forces of Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Report New Draft Group May Be Registered Within Two Months

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 2. — Congressional sources today gave further weight to the report that the draft will reach into the 18 to 20 age group and that an administration movement is under way to speedily build a tremendously increased military force of both men and women.

The reports gained further impetus following the announcement of Major General Lewis B. Hershey that he hoped to register the new draft group within two months.

Sen Johnson (D, Colo., a member of the Military Affairs Committee of the Senate, said the reports had not come to him directly, but added:

"There has been a definite indication that men between the ages of 18 and 20 years are either going to be drafted or given compulsory military training."

"The rumors have been kicking around for several weeks now, and although I don't know what truth there is in them, there must be some basis."

Meanwhile both the Senate and the House were moving to speed up creation of Women's Auxiliary Corps in both army and navy, with the prospect now in sight of having them inducted as members of both services and ready for duty everywhere.

Under present plans, Women's Army Corps members will be called upon to go to the front for the servicing of airplanes, tanks and other equipment.

Monday the Senate Military Affairs committee will hear the views of Senate naval experts and it was expected that legislation finally will be drafted so that women in both the navy and army corps will be subject to full military regulations, although they will not carry arms.

Sen. Reynolds (D, N. C., chairman of the Senate Military Affairs committee said:

"I feel that the women will be doing a tremendous service to their country. The country in turn will have to protect them. In addition to gaining for them the protections supposedly afforded all soldiers under International Law, they will be entitled to retirement and other benefits."

OAKLAND, Calif. — Like short skirts, the street car is coming back into its own.

First signs of this move appeared in Oakland a few days ago when the operators of one of the major transportation systems in the San Francisco bay area, was granted permission by the state railroad commission to substitute street cars for buses one of its lines.

It was less than a year ago the company reverted to buses almost exclusively. The trolleys were put in the car barns to gather dust while the rails grew rusty.

Then along came Hirohito's men swarming over the rubber plantations of the East Indies and we had rubber rationing.

Revision to street cars, the company claims, will save thousands of "rubber miles" yearly, conserve tires and be more economical.

The state railroad commission expects many more such shifts to the old rambling street car in the immediate future.

Old timers in the bay region, who looked on in disdain when their favorite ferries were scrapped following completion of the spectacular San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, see in the swing to street cars the fond hopes the ferry boats may also come back into their own.

LONDON, Edmund Nelson Burgess, forty-one-year-old Cockney electrician of Guy's Hospital, London, is one of the few men in the British capital today to claim they did not dislike German bombing raids.

And the reason is that Burgess, who, in addition to being the hospital's electrician, is also Guy's fire watcher and incident spotter, made such a close study of bombs during the Luftwaffe's nightly attacks last winter that he was too interested to be afraid.

Night after night Burgess stood on the roof of the hospital, stop watch in hand, and timed bombs falling. He knows how long they take to drop, the area in which various caliber bombs will cause damage, and how soon a man can detect they are falling.

Burgess assisted the writer when visiting the hospital recently that he can detect the moment bombs doors open from the change in the note of the aircraft's engine.

Make "Steaming" Noise
He says that bombs make a "steaming noise" as they leave the aircraft, and a "whishing noise" as they come nearer.

On one occasion something whizzed past Burgess which neither "steamed" nor "whished," neither did it make the "pitter-patter" noise of incendiaries hitting the ground.

Next morning, Burgess found two machine guns, apparently jettisoned by an enemy airplane being chased by a night fighter.

In the hospital's blitz museum the writer saw fragments of some of the bombs that have fallen on the building. Nine high explosives hit it. One hundred and twenty incendiaries fell on it. The total casualties at the hospital were four.

Cross-Section of Battered Corregidor Island

This drawing shows how Corregidor is prepared for the all-out attacks launched by the Japanese against the fortress which is preventing the Japanese from using Manila Bay, one of the best in that section of the world, in their drive into the South Pacific. The underground passages are providing living quarters for the heroic defenders, whose top-side shelters have been pulverized by the air raids and the shelling. The large, long-range guns and the accurate fire of the anti-aircraft batteries are repulsing all attempts at invasion and destruction.

Ensign Frank Keathley, U. S. N., tells reporters in New York, above, how he and his Navy gun crew escaped when the ship on which they were stationed was sunk by an enemy submarine, then took charge of guns on the vessel that saved them and sank another U-boat which appeared soon after.

Joseph M. Schenck Starts Sentence

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 2. — Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox Corp., today was sent to the Federal correctional institution in Danbury, Conn.

Schenck surrendered at the U. S. Marshall's office in the federal building under a sentence of a year and day on charge of perjury.

He made false statements concerning the income of Willie Bioff, movie union leader, who with George E. Browne, also a union leader, was convicted in the extortion of $100,000 from the film industry.

Originally, Schenck was sentenced to three years but this penalty was suspended by Judge Grover M. Moscovitz because Schenck had aided in the Bioff Browne case.

IN BRIEF, the price ceilings which have now been ordered will be only partially effective. Price ceilings alone, as has been proven by experience and pointed out by every economist, are not the full answer to an inflation threat. A full five-point program, which includes governmental economy, firm wage control, and all-embracing taxation, is indispensable to an effective effort.

There, of course, will be cooperation with the President's program despite its serious defects. But not to permit these out—not to keep pointing them out—is to abandon hope that they will be corrected later and a really balanced and workable plan developed.

and miscellaneous nonessential manufacturing plants, for government occupancy, but it's quite a stunt to evict a whole urban population onto park benches to make room for Uncle Sam. Folk screech like fury at being chucked out. Some of 'em have leaves and staid pat. Furthermore, while a 12-story hotel, a block square, such as the one across the street from where I'm writing, has a deal of floor space inside it, it wasn't planned to accommodate munitions-making, and practically would have to be reconstructed for the purpose.

That's where the time factor enters into the equation again. A whole of a town, the size of New York or Chicago, can't be torn down and rebuilt, for the war emergency, in a hurry, and haste is the vital essential now.

Besides, wherever all our war workers in these industries, be housed, with their families? Right around, in the neighborhood? No, no that wouldn't do. As a result of the tearing-down, nothing would be left but slums, Washington's an example of it. Congress itself is scared by conditions in the capital—afraid of an epidemic that'll kill off about half of it, senators and representatives, included, due to overcrowding.

You might say that the populace could protect its health by moving. But, once more, we get back to residentially, out into the suburbs, the transportation proposition.

How are these workers, with their families, put out of commission for the duration, to get from home to their jobs and back home again?

Industry is solving the puzzle to some extent.

It's doing it by moving its plants into the cities' outskirts and encouraging their workers to flock their homes around in their various neighborhoods.

The industries are headquarters, in what are known in Washington as "tempo" — abbreviated from temporary. They're hastily-constructed frame affairs, but pretty big many of 'em, and combustible as kindlingwood, but heatable in winter and waterproof.

The United States Land Institute, an independent agency in a recent release, predicts that this tendency, which it calls "decentralization," will continue.

Its forecast is that it'll be cheaper for industry to operate and more comfortable for workers to live out in the sticks, and that that's what they'll vote for from now on. The Institute doesn't contend that big cities will disintegrate completely, but it does guess that skyscraper days are over.

THE PRESIDENT in his speech would convey the idea that to mention these omissions is to be selfish or ignorant. It is neither. Not to mention them is stupidly to acquiesce in a half-baked policy involving real national danger. And they are being mentioned, not by those whose "toes have been stepped on" or who merely "approve self-denial on the part of their neighbors," but by men and newspapers anxious to cooperate with the President in any effort to avert inflation; men and newspapers who will cooperate in this one but who cannot blind themselves to the heavy handicaps which he has unnecessarily imposed.

AS THESE SEE it now the imposition of a ceiling over all prices, while ignoring the tax, economy and wage essentials, will give rise to endless complications and create problems which no one in Washington is equipped to handle. Not the least of these has already emerged. It is the problem of how to get the farm lobby in Congress (for opposing which Mr. Roosevelt deserves full credit) to permit enactment of the legislation he suggests to limit farm prices when he will not permit any legislation to limit wages and leaves it in the hands of a board with a record for extraordinary labor leniency.

IN BRIEF, the price ceilings which have now been ordered will be only partially effective. Price ceilings alone, as has been proven by experience and pointed out by every economist, are not the full answer to an inflation threat. Charge Stevedores Fraudulently Got $200,000 From State (International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 2 — The state unemployment compensation today planned to expand its investigation of fraudulent benefit claims to the garment industry, centering in Philadelphia, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Easton and Pittsburgh, after unearthing an alleged $200,000 jobless pay "steal" by 220 Philadelphia stevedores.

A year's investigation of the Stevedore industry by William E. Collier, Associate Director of the State Bureau, was said to have disclosed that Stevedores fraudulently collected $200,000 in unemployment compensation benefits from 1938 to early 1941.

Collier said three Philadelphia locals of the International Longshoremen's Association (A. F. of L.) had been cooperating with the investigation.

Farmers Vote On Wheat Marketing Quotas In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 2 — Pennsylvania's farmers will vote today on a proposal to establish wheat marketing quotas in the first crop control referendum held in the country since the war began. Similar balloting will take place in other states.

A total of 12,171 farmers are eligible to vote at the 350 balloting places which have been established throughout the state by the Pennsylvania Agriculture Conversation Committee.

The farmers will vote whether to continue this year with the marketing quotas imposed last year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The quotas are designed to prevent the sale or use of wheat in excess of a farmer's allotted share. Where sales are made in excess of the quota, a penalty of 57 cents a bushel would be imposed. Last year's penalty was 49 cents.

Pennsylvania farmers voted last year against wheat restriction, but the nationwide balloting was favorable and it was placed in effect in this state.

The Pennsylvania Agriculture Conversation committee expressed confidence that state farms would approve the proposal this year.

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 2.—The small game season will open on October 31 and continue until November 28, the state game commission announced today, simultaneously with the disclosure that a statewide bear season will be permitted from November 18-21 and a statewide deer season on bucks only from November 30-December 12.

The October 31 date was chosen in order to provide an additional Saturday for defense workers, said Ross L. Leffler, president of the commission. The opening hour for the first day of the game season will be 9 a. m.

Included in the small game season are ruffed grouse, bobwhite quail, wild turkeys, ringneck pheasants, cottontail rabbits and squirrels. No turkey hunting will be permitted in Cameron, Clarion, Clearfield, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, McKean, Potter, Warren and Westmoreland counties.

Few Changes Made

Despite the war there were few changes from last year. One of them, however, concerned the lowly skunk, which was declared important to the war effort and placed on the protected list. Henceforth skunk may be hunted only from November 10, 1942 to January 15, 1943, but now is considered valuable because of the worth of its fur and its carcass in furnishing fat and glycerine.

The bag limits for all game and fur-bearers remain the same as last year except that the daily bag limit for squirrels was reduced from six to five. The big limits for Hungarian partridges and snowshoe rabbits, for which there were no open seasons last year, are two daily, eight a season, for the partridges and six a season for the rabbits. The daily bag limit for raccoons was reduced to two.

A change was made in the raccoon season also. Upon the recommendation of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs, said Leffler, the commission decided to try two zones for hunting, an upper or high altitude zone comprising McKean, Tioga, Potter, Bradford, Susquehanna, Wayne, Pike, Elk, Cameron, Clinton, Lycoming, Sullivan, Wyoming, Lackawanna, Jefferson, Clearfield and Centre counties, for which the season will begin October 20 and close January 15, and a lower zone comprising all other counties, for which the season opens November 10 and closes January 15. Raccoons may be trapped statewide, however, from November 10 to January 15, except in a few counties.

Pirates Rally, Shade Dodgers In Rowdy Tiff

Buccos Tighten N. L. Race With 7-6 Win; Cleveland Notches 12th In Row

ST. LOUIS BROWNS TOP RED SOX, 10-6

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 2.—The Cleveland Indians, enjoying a 2½ game lead in the American league, were stalling their thirteenth victory in a row today. The Tribe, making their first foray of the season in the east went to town yesterday with a 16-hit, 13 to 6 triumph over the Senators.
The Pirates tightened the race in the National League by defeating the Dodgers, 7 to 6, in a riotous outburst that saw Manager Frankie Frisch ousted from the Buccanier bench for the second straight day. The victory pushed Pittsburgh into third place of the lead. A two run rally in the ninth did the trick.

Yanks Blasted, 7-2
While Cleveland was smacking the Senators around, the Tigers blasted the Yankees 7 to 2 on four-hit pitching by Dizzy Trout to take second place in the American league and force the Yankees back into third place. The Tigers slapped three Yankee pitchers, Marvin Breuer, Hank Borowy and Johnny Lindell for 16 hits.

The afternoon's joy was dimmed for the Detroiters, however, when Bob Patrick, one of their finest rookie outfield prospects sustained a broken left knee cap when hit by a smash off Jimmy Bloodworth's bat while serving as a batting practice pitcher before the game.

In other American league games, the Browns continued their jinx over the Sox with a 10 to 6 win. George McQuinn paced the assault on Joe Dobson, Tex. Houghson and Bill Butland with three hits. St. Louis bunched six hits for four runs in the fifth. Jimmy Fox and Ted Williams hit homers for the Bostonians.

Finally ending a seven-game losing streak, the White Sox defeated the Athletics 5 to 2. A double, two singles, a walk and a stolen base in the fourth inning against Luman Harris, produced three runs for the Sox, which proved sufficient to win the game. Johnny Rigney went the distance for Chicago, limiting the A's to six bingles.

Cincy Wins, 6-5

Other National League games saw the Reds snap a four-game losing streak with a 6 to 5 triumph over the Pirates. Riddle scoring his first win of the season. Riddle, last year's most effective pitcher in the senior loop, gave 11 hits but kept them well scattered.

The Cubs outslugged the Giants 13 to 9, tallying 14 hits off five New York pitchers. Babe Dahlgren, who had been benched for ineffective hitting, celebrated his return to the Chicago lineup with four hits and a walk for a perfect day at the plate. Hugh East and Harry Feldman, Giant pitchers, both hit home runs before being knocked out of the box.

Ken O'Dea's home run in the tenth gave the Cardinals an 8 to 7 victory over the Braves. Stan Musial's home with an aboard in the ninth sent the game into extra innings. Musial poked two round trips.

Kentucky Derby Race Late Today

Close To 100,000 Fans Will Converge For Colorful Blue Grass Classic

SEVENTEEN PROBABLE STARTERS ARE LISTED

By JACK MAHON
(International News Service Sports Writer) LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2.—Beat him! That's what they were saying about each of some 17 racers named for the 68th running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby here today. (Starting time, about 6:20, New Castle time.)

No matter where you went in this madhouse town—you got a tip. It seemed everyone knew something about each of the 17 probable starters, in the largest field to run for the rosy sash War Admiral scampered home in 1937.

As the largest crowd ever to pack this historic track, about 100,000 citizens, converged on the Downs, the race was still considered as wide open as a general admission gate at Churchill Downs.

Despite all previous talk, theories and rumors, it seemed Ben Whitaker's Requested might go to the post the favorite.

Here's Lineup
Here's the list of entrants dropped into the old stables as dawn came up yesterday. They're listed in post position order:

Fair Call, First Fiddle, Shut Out, Sweep Swinger, David Dyer, Hollywood, Alask, Sir War, First Prize, Sun Again, Fairy Manah, Dogpatch, Boot and Spur, Requested, Apache, Valinda Orphan and With Regards.
As we get it, and you men will send it in, to the hill, on Requested. They think the Wood Memorial winner is home; as the smart set says: "Could be." But we don't think so.

As this fugitive from the loan sharks looks at it the Derby is: With Regards, Hollywood, and Requested.

They have been saying about With Regards, "Who has he beaten?"
The answer, as we see it, is: "Who's beaten him?"
If they all go, which they won't, the gross value of the stake will be $87,250, richest prize of all Derby history. The net to the fortunate owner will be a paltry $65,225. There's your Derby.

May Organize
Prior to the meet, representatives of the colleges entered will meet at Geneva College to discuss the formation of a track conference. Ever since the old Tri-State Conference broke up, there has been a great need for some form of district college athletic conference, and if the proposed track conference works out, the idea may be spread to other sports.

Despite some ideas to the contrary, this revived District Inter-collegiate meet is operated cooperatively by the schools entered with the idea of fostering track competition and is not sponsored by any definite organization. In other words, it is with the idea of putting it on a more permanent basis that the conference has been proposed.

Rockets Defeat Dewey Nine, 8-5

Casey Is Tabbed Man Of The Week

In a pre-league battle, the Rockets handed the Dewey A. C., an 8-5 setback, Friday night on George Washington field.

The City-County Independent Baseball league rivals looked impressive. Mayberry rapped a long triple for the winners, during a late rally.

Conigni and J. Adams pitched for the Dewey while Van Dusen and Tartier formed the winning battery.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Saturday sports cocktail:
"Red" Rolfe is just about ready to toss in the sponge so far as baseball is concerned, for this season at least. The crafty New York Yankee star third sacker doesn't seem to be able to flatten that attack of colitis which has plagued him all these months.

Hal Turpin, only 37, has won five in a row for Seattle. The Dodgers must be slipping. They haven't grabbed him yet. . . . There's another Joe DiMaggio in baseball and he doesn't do half bad. The kid plays for City College in Los Angeles. The Yankee clipper and the collegian are not related.

Otto Graham, a crack baseballer in addition to being a 14-carat footballer, was forced to leave Northwestern's lineup recently at the end of the first game of a double header with Chicago university. He had to take a geology trip. Considering the opposition, it didn't make much difference whether he played or not.

Legion League Starts May 13

Arrangements For Opening Day Made At Meeting In Legion Home Friday Evening

Arrangements were made to open the American Legion Junior League, which will have eight fast teams in the fold, on Wednesday evening, May 13, at Dean Park.

An attractive opening day has been outlined. Commander Clarence S. Jarrett, will throw out the first ball, the American Legion Band will be on hand to furnish music for the occasion, and there will be a flag raising.

Considerable enthusiasm was displayed at last evening's meeting, 42 boys being present, the meeting being in charge of Earl Moffett and James Vessella, who will guide the affairs of the league during the season. Commander Jarrett addressed the meeting and assured the boys of the support of the Perry S. Gaston Post.

A final meeting will take place on Friday evening, May 8.

Elders-Moose Battle Sunday

City League Rivals Square Off In "Warmup" Game On Marshall Field

New Castle baseball enthusiasts will get a sneak preview of two of the better City Baseball League aggregations on Marshall field, Scott street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The billing pairs the Elder A. C. and the "Fiz" Rodenbaugh's Moose. Manager Joe O'Leary, of the Elder, today expressed the belief that his club will be "well-balanced" despite the loss of several stars to Uncle Sam's forces.

With a large turnout of players this year, "Jewie" Coen, the Elder's coaching strategist extraordinary and Fourth of July starting chuck-er, said the scene reminds him of "down in one of the Carolina training camps where big leaguers are turned out by the dozens."

Bud Weiss, a newcomer, looks good at the home platter swinging a war club and covers ground at short like a circus tent. Tommy Strassburg, a sparkplug at any position, seems headed for one of his most successful seasons.

Johnnie Kollek, Dick Withrow, LeRoy Anderson, "Gibby" Gibson, Mickey Huff, Davey Gunnert and Chief Petty Officer Dorey C. Ritchie, U. S. Navy recruit here, are notable standouts.

Following tomorrow's clash, the Elders will resume drills Monday night. Any player desiring a trial is asked to report to the Scott field.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Penn State golfers defeated Cornell 4-3, at Ithaca. . . . Archery makes its 1942 appearance at North Park, Pittsburgh, today. . . . Bill Dickey of the Yankees is leading the Big Six in hitting with an average of .423 for 52 times at bat in 14 games. He got 22 hits and scored six runs. . . . Veteran Boxers association will hold its next meeting in Pittsburgh, June 7, Charlie Dunn, former local lightweight, is a member. . . . Butler Yankees defeated Brackenridge in an exhibition game, 4-1, at Butler.

Princeton defeated Haverford in golf 5-4. In tennis, Pennsylvania won from Haverford, 7-2. In track, Haverford defeated Swarthmore, 67-39. In baseball, Notre Dame won from Great Lakes, 8-2, and West Virginia turned back Penn State 6-4.

When fistic folk trot into the air-cooled Arena Monday night they'll probably see some of the choicest amateur boxing they have witnessed for some time.

In fact, Monday's Evening Event is studded with boxers, sluggers and combination - fighters and there should be action galore when the bell rings at 8:30 p. m.

There are actually three main bouts, as follows:
Chris Tabor vs. Tommy Bell, 160.
Russell Baxter vs. Henry Jackson, 160.
Frankie Cordy vs. Ted Phillips, 135.

Tabor won decisions from Frankie Genaro and Russ Baxter in Ellwood City. Tommy Bell out-boxed Baxter here and he believes that when a decision is given Monday night he will have been returned the winner. He is a cagey boxer with a good "kick." Tabor can box and hit, hence a real fight is in progress.

Baxter wants a crack at the winner, Henry Jackson is his opponent. He has fought here, is well liked and should be able to provide plenty of action for Baxter. If the latter can protect his chin he may be returned the winner. However, fights some times turn out differently than anticipated. Remember the Genaro vs. Baxter ending?

Cordy Defeated argo

Frankie Cordy beat Nick Wargo who was to have fought for the National A.A.U. crown and couldn't make the trip east. This line is sufficient to tell of his accomplishments. Phillips, reputedly a good lightweight, will be saying "Howdy" for the first time against a fighter of Cordy's reputation.

Joe Perrone, Steubenville will box Dick Roach, Niles, at 118. Dick has pleased in his appearance here. Joe is said to possess some of the tricks taught him by his pro' brother, Heavyweight Patsy.

New Castle fans will have added reasons to turn out for the show because the slugging triumvirate, Gardner, Carey and McEwen have been carded by the Jefferson Athletic club, sponsor of the show. Gardner will fight Perry Brown, Steubenville, at 140; Carey will oppose Frankie Mueche, Niles, 130 and McEwen, a several times out boxer, will oppose classy Sammy Felice, Youngstown, 118.

The curtain raiser will find Johnny Davidson, Youngstown and Steve Nichey, 160, brother of Billy, a pro' of Pittsburgh, furnishing the action.

With industrial conditions having attracted a considerable number of out-of-towners here, it is anticipated that the crowd will be larger than usual in the air-cooled Arena.

West Side Tigers Nudge Croton, 2-1

City League Rivals Play Encore Sunday Afternoon On Lee Avenue Field

In a "grapefruit league" game studded with remarkable pitching, the West Side Tigers scored an impressive 2-1 victory over the Croton A. C. Friday evening at Croton.

The Tigers and Chieffs, S. Morrison, Smolnick and Stewart who yielded three singles. Woods and Stone divided the mound assignment for the losers and Tossed a four hitter. Defensively the rivals performed sensationally.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the teams will play again on Lee avenue field. Manager "Hop" Colalucia will give Woods or Stone the pitching nod while Manager Paul Morrison will parade to the slab for the Tigers.

Score by innings:
West Side . . . 101 000 0-2 4 0
Croton . . . 000 010 0-1 3 1
Batteries: West Side, Chieffs, S. Morrison, Smolnick, Stewart and Thomas. Morello and Williams; Croton, Woods, Stone and Riccio.

W. P. B. Rules On Ice Cream And Butter Are Issued

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 1. — The War Production Board today ruled that there shall be but two grades of ice cream, and ordered the number of flavors cut to 20.

The board issued a sweeping series of recommendations to the butter and ice cream industries that ultimately will affect everyone who buys ice cream or butter. The recommendations are tantamount to an order.

In the case of ice cream, the industry was limited to 10 flavors in each grade. However, since there may be some duplications of flavors in each grade, the ultimate number of flavors produced may be cut to 12 or 15. At the same time, the number of flavors of sherbet for ice was cut to two.

Ice cream sold in the popular five-cent cups also was limited to two flavors, and the board ordered the industry to standardize all pint and quart size packages.

Unemployment Pay Shows Shrinkage

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 2. — Pennsylvania's favorable employment situation was reflected most forcefully by the payment during the past week of one of the smallest disbursements in Unemployment Compensation benefits since the beginning of the idle insurance program in our state," according to a statement issued by Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines.

"The third week of April, 1942, saw the disbursement of less than $200,000 to but 26,700 jobless workers. A decline in first applications for benefits was also prevalent throughout the state during the same period. A ten per cent decrease was shown in this department," Hines explained.

Collections from employers on the other hand increased sharply as the date for the first quarter contributions approached. Some $810,000 was deposited in the Unemployment Compensation Fund—over $500,000 more than was disbursed to idle claimants. The Fund consequently moved up to $232,468,000.

There are more big game animals in Michigan than in any other state in the Union, according to the latest figures compiled in the third nationwide inventory conducted by the fish and wildlife service of the U. S. department of the interior.

Tears And Laughter Are Mixed In War

By PAT ROBINSON
(N. E. Staff Correspondent)
AN ADVANCED UNITED NATIONS OPERATIONAL BASE, somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, May 2.—War is a mixture of laughter and tears.

Two little stories will illustrate that statement.

Recently, while a post office clerk and I were taking in the Australian town near this base, a little old, white-haired lady with a seamed, wrinkled face and hands gnarled from the many years of hard work, entered, asking for information about her only son. This is not an unusual experience in post offices.

She looked weary and careworn as she poured out her story. She had not heard from her boy in many weeks and he was always so good about writing.

I placed my arm about her frail shoulders, telling her he might be too busy to write, that no news was good news, etc.

She shook her head sadly, tears fell, and said that wasn't so, because her daughter's husband was killed by the first bomb that fell on Darwin and she didn't know about it for a long time. Now she was pitifully anxious about her own son.

She told us where he worked. The clerk and I looked at each other.

Both of us knew what had happened to that little building and everyone in it.

The little lady must have caught our expressions, because she said: "I see, gentlemen. I see. I guess my poor boy is gone."

She went out sobbing softly and I stood there cursing impotently and realizing that an eternal hell must exist to take care of men who start wars.

The other story is causing chuckles throughout the American and Australian forces.

One American correspondent, noted for his pontifical "expecting" on the war recently wired Port Moresby, asking that a room with bath be reserved for him. He was unaware that the town had long since been evacuated and that the hotel had been left without a stick of furniture.

A humorous Australian commander wired back:

"The entire hotel is at your disposal."

Two Children

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., May 2.—A married couple were held for questioning in Scranton today in connection with the brutal bomb murder of William Rebhorn, 19, and his sister Lois, 17, on November 7, 1940.

Captain of detectives George Donaldson admitted the man and woman were in the custody of the police but declined further comment.

The victims, children of Dr. E. H. Rebhorn, well-known Scranton physician, were killed when a bomb, placed in the automobile they were using, exploded. Numerous suspects have been grilled by police but to date there has been no solution to the crime which shocked the city and residents of eastern Pennsylvania.
